i said "i prefer to keep them here because they smell strongly in my room" she said first youll leave bananas then apples then itll be a big mess so no 10:56 AM so i said "this is crazy, im looking for another place to live" and she said fine
me: wow
I was on the phone last night with Michael Hastings, the Baghdad correspondent, and then Mirna came in and got pissed because I lit a cig off the toaster and she took the toaster out and was bitching about it while I'm on the fucking phone to Newsweek's fucking bahgdad correspondent Catalina: sorry 10:57 AM if you and i were roommates wed be dead in a week me: later I did my thing I do with crazy girls whereby I calm them down with my unassailable rhetoric and then she admitted that she was being irrational yeah, but we wouldn't be hassled Catalina: true
